CAREER SUMMARY

I am a strategy and programme professional who combines consulting expertise with hands-on experience designing and delivering initiatives across philanthropy, nonprofits, climate, gender equity, workforce development, and public health. My work has included leading a USD 1.3 million national programme advancing women's participation in India's automotive sector, serving a state behavioural insights unit delivering behavioural insights for public health programming, advising 19 education nonprofits on organisational growth and fundraising and designing a self-directed online strategic planning programme for climate-sector leaders. I have also developed gender-inclusive workforce frameworks for the private sector, built philanthropic partnerships, and led business development initiatives generating USD 1M+ in revenue. As a consultant and practitioner, I am committed to equity-centered, relationship-based approaches to organisational support.
